"Never Want to See Him Again" Mrs. Sweeten Tells Relative

LONELY IN JAIL

Father of Poisoned Husband Holds no Malice for Woman

(By the Associated Press)
MT. VERNON, Sept. 25.—"I never want to see that man again, never," C. C. Sweeten declared here today that Mrs. Elsie Sweeten his daughter-in-law told him in the Salem jail referring to Rev. Lawrence M. Hight at whose suggestion she poisoned her husband.
"He made me do it, he made me do it," she repeated over and over again to Mr. Sweeten who in spite of his advanced age came long miles through the chilly night because "after all Elsie is the boy's mother." He wanted to talk with her about her three sons' future. Not one harsh word was spoken when he met the woman who killed his son, Wilford Sweeten. When the aged man confronted Mrs. Sweeten in the jail he extended his hand with out a word. The daughter-in-law took it in both of her hands and bowed her head.
"He made me do it," she began. "I did not want to."
"I came to talk about the boys," broke in Mr. Sweeten.
"Let me tell you about it," she said. "I did not want to do it, when he named it I said no, but he kept after me arguing for a month for me to do it. I was in his power. Anything he said I felt I must do."
"It was terribly hard for me to give Wilford the first poison. When he did not die, I came to the house handed me a peach and slipped a note in my hand which said for me to give him more. All the time my husband was sick he kept coming and giving me notes telling me to give him more poison."
The mother begged that her children be allowed to come to see her in the jail. She insisted that they not be separated. She asked that they be sent to a Masonic orphanage.
When her father-in-law started to leave Mrs. Sweeten requested him to stay longer, declaring she was "afraid and awfully lonesome in the jail."

QUAKERS TO LIVE IN EARLY TIMES

Signing of Declaration of Independence to be Observed

(By the Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The celebration of the 150th anniversary of the meeting of the First Continental Congress and the 200th anniversary of the first meeting of the Carpenters company in whose hall the patriots met to discuss the relations of the colonies with their mother country.
A colorful two day program which began at Carpenters Hall will end tomorrow at historic Valley Forge. The central figure of the celebration tonight will be the president of the United States who will deliver an address.
Carpenters Hall has been well preserved through the interests of the Carpenters company which still exists, and stands almost hidden by large buildings near Third and Chestnut streets. It was here that the congress assembled in September 1774, after a patriotic meeting at the little City tavern and was too small for the meeting. They marched to Carpenters Hall and among the most prominent were Col. Washington, John and Samuel Adams, Patrick Henry and Peyton Randolph who was made president of the congress. The congress was in session until October 26, and during its life issued a declaration of the rights and grievances of the colonies.
The government of the thirteen original states were invited to attend the double celebration today as were also the military commands from those states whose history reaches back to the American revolution.

ENROLMENT HITS MARK AT COLLEGE

President Linscheid States School Attendance at 1108 Now

East Central State Teachers College of Ada has reached its record peak in growth and will develop the remainder of the year to establish itself as the leading teachers college of Oklahoma.
At the close of the last week, the enrollment at East Central had reached its record mark, 1108 students having enrolled in the various departments of the College.
According to a comparison of figures, the enrollment at the present date is 21 percent greater than at the corresponding period of last year, the enrollment for the same date last year being 909.
President A. Linscheid of the College confidently expects the enrollment to reach 1200 before the end of the school year.
While the enrollment is considered a barometric basis for comparison with other colleges of the state the educational advantages to be derived through progressive administration at the Ada institution, is considered by President Linscheid as the most outstanding advancement of the institution.
Practically every department has been crowded to capacity through the increased enrollment. Twelve sub-division of classes have been made in preferred departments since the opening of the College early this month.
Six new instructors have been added by the College to meet the increasing demands in class room instruction. One new department has been added and all departments strengthened for the year's work.
Only the cramped condition in two buildings stand out as obstacles in the further growth of the College during the present school year.

During the course of Grubb's trial in the last three days testimony was introduced tending to reveal a "life of indiscretions" on the part of the young mother at Oklahoma City and Okmulgee, and Judge Bob Hudson said in view of the evidence against Mrs. Grubb, he could not hold Grubb on the charge of wife abandonment.

Nineteen members of the varsity string accompanied Coach Joe Milam at noon today to Greenville, Texas for the first invasion of the season, the East Central team being scheduled to meet the urleson College team Friday afternoon.
Milam's selection last night at "skull" practice included eleven selections to start the game at Greenville and eight others to supply the needs for replacement throughout the game.
The battle at Greenville, while scheduled as a pre-season affair and without bearing on the Oklahoma Intercollegiate rating is one of the less important because of its testing the merits of Milam's string.
The team left this afternoon on the Frisco and will probably return Saturday night.
The eleven takes a week's rest following the battle at Greenville before launching out on its conference schedule, three of the first games being schedule don foreign fields.

HILL OUTLINES ROTARY POLICY

Organization Needs Told to Arkansas Members by Oklahoma Leader

(By the Associated Press)
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 25.—Development of understanding, good will and international peace are the chief planks in the year's platform of Rotary International, Everett W. Hill, Oklahoma City, International president, told Rotarians of this city and adjoining cities here today.
In 1800 of the principal cities of the United States and 28 foreign countries this doctrine of understanding and good will is being preached by Rotary clubs this year, the resident declared. If the efforts of Rotary International add "one jot" to the movement toward world peace and harmony the year will have added a rich profit to the organization, he said.
In his address, President Hill said:

"Rotary is a philosophy of living, its acceptance and application to the problems of every-day affairs depends upon each individual Rotarian. The growth of the organization depends upon the maintained interest and belief of each Rotarian in the principles of Rotary. The primary object of these principles is to develop the individual and through his development, enable him to find his place in community life; to cause him to look upon his business or profession as an avenue of service to the public.
"Rotary has already built friendships among individuals, among communities, among nations. It has united men of twenty-eight nations in bonds of common brotherhood. It is pouring the light of understanding and good will into the darkness created by the four forces that are yet loose and at work—hatred of one class of society for another, greed which makes profiteers and encourages sloth, envy which breeds suspicion and mental blindness and fear which creates lack of decision and drives men and business to an early grave. To rid the world of these is to roll away the greatest mountain of distrust and misunderstanding.
"The conquering power sought by countless generations of humankind lay dormant and the search for it was dissipated in racial, national, religious or social prejudice and made thereby of little avail for want of a common sense of direction. Rotary gives direction to this power and thereby stirs it to action by cutting its way through all artificial barriers of prejudice providing a common ground for all races, creeds and nations where they can co-ordinate the latest power of the attainment in the six objects of Rotary.
"These objects are:
"First—The ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise.
"Second—High ethical standards in business and professions.
"Third—The application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal, business and community life.
"Fourth—The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service.
"Fifth—The recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society.
"Sixth—The advancement of understanding, good will and international peace through world fellowship, business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WHOSOEVER WILL COME AFTER ME, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it. —Mark 8:34, 35.

There has always been a wide difference in the attitude of British and American labor towards inventions of labor saving devices. The Britisher has always feared that the introduction of machinery would reduce the number of jobs and has always fought against innovations. When the steam engine was first invented riots took place at factories that installed them. An Englishman invented a reaper before Cyrus McCormick constructed one in the United States, but the opposition of men who feared they would be out of jobs prevented its use, and so on down a long string of labor saving devices. On the other hand, American labor has always been ready to accept any sort of improvement with the result that more jobs and better paying ones have been created. For instance the reaper simply widened the grain growing industry and made more jobs than there were before. The linotype is another case in point. It was predicted that thousands of printers would starve if the machine came into universal use. It did work a hardship for a time on some of the old timers who knew nothing but to set straight type by hand. However, the rapid work of the machine so enlarged the printing industry that a heavy demand for men resulted and today wages of printers are much higher than in the old days. This has usually been the case, but the Britishers have never been able to learn this lesson with the result that wages are low and in many lines they are unable to compete with the more enterprising Americans. It has also been the policy of the British workers to soldier on the job as much as possible on the theory that it paid to stretch a job out as far as possible. Of course this also meant low pay, but the Britishers still cling to it rather than follow the American plan of getting a full capacity production.

The reply of John W. Davis to the protest of former Attorney General Daugherty against Davis' insistence on making the records of Daugherty and others a campaign issue and demanding unflinching honesty in handling the affairs of government will hold the Ohioan for awhile, or we have missed our guess. To our way of thinking the worst jolt of all was the way he handled the matter of Gaston B. Means. Daugherty sent Davis a purported repudiation of Means' testimony before the senate committees but before it reached its destination Means had changed his story again and said his testimony in the first instance was correct. However, where the real jolt came was the reminder that Daugherty himself was the man who employed Means, hence he must bear some of the blame for his conduct since he knew of Means' record before he employed him. The other jolt was the reminder that the Republicans are trying to divert the attention of the voters from the party's record by raising the bugaboo of bolshevism, thus substituting a mere shadow for the real dangers that beset the government when crooks are in the saddle.

One of the most successful politicians we ever knew in Texas made it a point to know as many boys as possible and always have a smile and pleasant greeting for one when he met him. He showed far more wisdom there than many we meet. He had an eye to the future knowing that it would not be many years until these boys would be voters and it was easier to win them then than it would be later on. The boys of today will be men almost before we realize it and it is well to recognize the fact. We shall have social and business dealings with them as men in a few years, so why not make friends of them as we go along and save time and perhaps trouble later? Any of us can recall the men we came in contact with in our boyhood days, some of whom we remember with pleasure and others of whom we were such rouches that we always shunned them then as well as in later years. A man cannot have too many friends and he might as well begin to make them as early as possible.

Last spring the Ardmore voters, for the first time in the history of the city, voted down the school levy. They were not long in finding out their mistake, at least the people who really wanted good schools soon saw it, and since then they have sought every possible means of getting by, but a five months term was the best they could figure. Finally they appealed to the excise board to order another election. October 10 has been set as the date and it is a safe bet that the proposition will carry this time. It is never economical to save money by impairing the efficiency of schools.

William Madison Hicks, former socialist leader whose tongue landed him in the penitentiary during the war, is reported to have declared for La Follette. La Follette has a monopoly on the disgruntled element and Hicks makes it unanimous.

CHINA SEEN AS POWER WITH REAL LEADERSHIP

(By the Associated Press)
MELBOURNE.—If China had a real leader it would be a first class power within ten years in the opinion of Colonel Eldred Pottinger, who came here to lecture on Eastern problems in their relation to Australia.
Development of a leader is by no means impossible, Colonel Pottinger holds. Thousands of Chinese have western education and millions have experienced the advantages of democratic self-government in other countries.
Expansion, he believes, is more important to China than to Japan. China has nowhere to send her people unless she can force an outlet. At present this is impossible but with a strong central government, under a firm dictator, it would be possible.
"There are 400 million people in China, which commands unlimited resources. Let these people be welded and the world will have to watch uneasily the land of the dragon," is the colonel's prediction.
"China's opportunity to strike at an unpeopled land would be in the event of a war between Japan and the United States and a rebellion to occupy the British in India. These things are not impossible and it must be remembered that the Chinese, properly led, are fine soldiers."

DAYTON, O., Sept. 22.—The constantly mounting speeds attained by fliers in the annual Pulitzer air races have not yet overtaken the development of airplanes, in the opinion of aeronautical authorities and it is believed the contest for the trophy here this year may produce speeds never yet attained by men and airplanes.
Many other interesting and important events have been on the programs of the meets at which the Pulitzer trophy has been flown for. The list of events for the Dayton international air races contains a round dozen among which are the "a to Dayton" race and the pursuit-type plane race for the Brig. Gen. William A. Mitchell trophy.

Among the entries is Sadi Lecoate, French air race and holder of the world's altitude record. Others are Bert Skeel of Selfridge Field, Michigan, who won the Mitchell trophy at St. Louis, and Lieut. Alex Pearson and W. H. Brookley of McCook Field, Dayton, representing the army air service.

Gen. Mason M. Patrick of the army air service ruled that race winners should not compete again in the same events. This was in order that all officers might get a chance to fly the fast ships. So stars among army fliers in races of other years cannot enter.

The Pulitzer races was won in 1923 by Lieut. A. J. Williams, U. S. navy, once a pitcher on the New York Giants, at an average speed of 243.67 miles. Second came Lieut. Harold J. Brow, also of the navy, with 241.78 miles an hour, and third, Lieut. L. H. Sanderson, marine corps, 230.66 miles an hour.

Since 1920 the races have been for speed, over a closed circuit. The trophy becomes each year the possession of the Aero Club, or chapter of the National Aeronautic Association represented by the pilot of the winning plane.

HAITIANS SEEK BASEBALL AID FROM UNITED STATES

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Haiti's capture of second place in the rifle matches at the Olympic games has stimulated interest in sport there and turned the eyes of the islanders toward baseball.

National headquarters of the American Red Cross here is in receipt of a letter from its Port au Prince chapter requesting the parent body to locate some surplus baseball outfits so that Haiti may make use of them. The president of Haiti, evincing a keen interest in baseball, has appointed Captain Bertol of the Gendarmerie d' Haiti to take up the matter of introducing baseball in the island, the communication says.

The Red Cross appealed to Clark Griffith, president of the Washington American League club, but he replied that surplus baseball paraphernalia of the Senators is turned over to the Walter Reed and other hospitals here for use of former service men.

Red Cross officials are communicating with major league teams in an effort to learn what can be done to aid in establishing the game in Haiti. It is estimated that $400 would be required to start the game on the island.

Okmulgee Citizens Launch Recall Move Against Their Mayor

OKMULGEE.—A formal petition asking for a recall election for the purpose of removing Mayor W. C. McAdoo from office, was filed Tuesday afternoon with R. H. Jeness, commissioner of finance. The names affixed to the petition include some of the most prominent men of the city, and leaders of some of the city's important industries.

Twenty-five names are required to file a petition to bring charges, after which 25 per cent of the vote at the last city election must be obtained. The required number to bring about an election is 900.

The petition charges that the mayor, who is at the head of the city police department, refused to remove police officers, although they were charged with murder and assault with intent to commit murder. It is further charged that the mayor advised and counseled his police officers that it was unnecessary to have a search warrant in conducting a raid on a private dwelling. On divers and sundry occasions such raids have been made in violation of the law and the constitution of the state.

Mar Moore, chief of police at liberty under $15,000 bond in connection with the recent murder of Buster Walker, a bootblack, has not only never been suspended, but the mayor is one of his bondsmen.

Policemen O. H. Parks and James Parmenter, who shot and seriously wounded Tom Miller, an oil field worker, while the latter was coming home from his work, voluntarily resigned from the police force, after which the mayor issued an order suspending them. These are the specific cases on which the charges are based.

Mayor McAdoo issued a statement that he had done his duty as best he knew how. He admitted that like all public officials he had made some mistakes. He thought the movement to remove him was unwarranted.

TAHLEQUAH, Okla.—About $10,000 will be spent by students attending Northeastern State Teachers college here during the present school year, according to the director of the college book store.

FALSE PREDICTION IS BACKED UP BY REPORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A false report of an earthquake, issued apparently for the purpose of attempting to justify a faulty seismic prediction, is interesting scientists here. Rome dispatches published in the United States and in Europe early in June announced the receipt at the Italian capital of reports from Jugo-slavia of a sharp earthquake in the Balkans where, it was stated, houses were crumbled and some casualties occurred. The reports said the center of the earth movement seemed to be near Mostar, Herzegovina.

Prof. G. Afamennone, director of the Italian national seismological observatory at Rocca di Papa, near Rome, has communicated with the Georgetown University seismological observatory here, saying the earth movement was not recorded in Italy where any such quake would have been registered on seismographs, and that, in reply to a letter, the director of the observatory at Belgrade, Serbia, stated no such earthquake was recorded there on the date in question.

A Croatian newspaper pointed out the earthquake fulfilled one of the predictions made by Raphael Bendandi, a Faenza seismologist, that the Balkan peninsula, from Monday, June 9, and thenceforth, would receive many shocks from earthquakes especially the district of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Let Kellogg's Bran free your childer from that dangerous disease—constipation

Children are subject to constipation. In the excitement of play, they neglect themselves and foster this dread disease. More than forty other diseases can be traced to constipation. Don't delay. Begin at once to cleanse their systems of the dangerous poisons.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps the intestine clean—and purges it. It drives out the poisons which undermine your children's health. It makes the bowels function regularly and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krum-bled, is guaranteed to bring results if eaten regularly, or your grocer will return your money. It is guaranteed because it is ALL bran! Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. They will like its wonderful, nut-like flavor—so different from common brans which are most unpalatable.

As a cereal, with milk or cream, they will enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krum-bled. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in delicious muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

But start them eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. Start every member of your family eating it. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krum-bled, is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE

AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

By JOSEPH KAYE

(© by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

JOHN FISKE AND ABBY BROOKES

THE American historian and philosopher, John Fiske, was a rather bashful lover and when he met the girl of his heart his first proceeding was to ask her permission to write to her. This being decided on we have the following letter addressed by Fiske to Miss Abby Brookes:

"Something almost compels me to write this, though I readily imagine how assuming I may appear in doing so. But I can sincerely say that were the state of things now to exist, of which we read in the fairy fable, and were some beneficent giant to ask me what boon of all I would have soonest granted me, I should at once answer this: that you might deign to bestow upon me the favor, for which I have just asked (permission to write). Should you think best to refuse this request, I beg you to think no more of it."

Miss Brookes consented, and later consented to a greater favor asked by John Fiske. They lived happily ever after, so happy that Fiske could send a letter like the one below, after eleven years of married life:

"Eleven years ago was the day I asked you to write to me up at Peterham. Oh, if only we were in Peterham now (dearest spot on earth), with our precious little flock! I am eaten up with homesickness and think if I can ever see New England again I shall be content never to travel at all. I crave every word from home as a drunkard craves his liquor and the kindest thing you can do for me will be to write a little almost every day, even if it is only half a page, so that only I may see an envelope directed by you, when I go for my mail."

Mrs. Byron Norrell, Editor.

Every Farm Needs Poultry.

By Zella Wigent, Agricultural Extension Department, International Harvester Company.

Every farmer should raise poultry. Practically every farmer does but many of us do not give poultry raising the attention we should.

Poultry raising nets an annual return in the United States of more than half a billion dollars.

Only a very small part of this vast sum is produced by the commercial poultrymen of the country. Ninety per cent of it is earned by the little, often neglected, flocks on the farms of the country.

Farm poultry is profitable because the investment is small, the cost of the labor needed to care for them is low, feed is cheap, the chickens utilize the waste products of the farm and destroy weeds and insects.

While poultry are always profitable on a farm, they can be made more profitable if they are given a reasonable amount of care and attention.

The average farm hen produces sixty eggs a year. She should produce 120. Profit depends on surplus production. It takes a certain number of eggs to pay for her board and keep. After that every egg she lays is profit.

Good housing and proper feeding will increase your profit. The housing need not be expensive; it only needs to be comfortable.

A hen will not lay eggs unless she is comfortable and has a reasonable variety of feed.

Handle and market your eggs right. Market the kind of eggs you would want to buy if you were buying them for your table. Have convenient nesting places so the hens will not lay in the grass and woods. Keep the nests clean, gather the eggs every day, keep them in a cool, dry place and market them twice a week.

Improve your flock. Cull out the poor stuff; build up a good flock and eventually keep one breed only.

A good hen house can be built at very little cost. It should not be cold, dark and damp, but it can be made out of any material, just so it is light, clean, cheerful and comfortable.

The poultry house should be close to the other buildings and easy to clean. A low house is hard to work in; a high house is hard to keep clean. Have plenty of light in the house—sunlight is a good germ destroyer.

Leave all or a part of the south side open to keep the house dry and well ventilated. Allow no drafts. Keep the house clean and free from vermin.

If you want winter eggs duplicate spring conditions. Variety is important in the winter ration. Eggs can not be produced unless the feed contains the material from which eggs are made. An egg is about 10 per cent fat, 15 per cent protein, 74 per cent water and 1 per cent ash, chiefly lime.

Grain, especially corn, furnishes the heat and fat making foods; mill feeds with milk or beef scrap, furnish the protein. Some green food is necessary in the winter time.

Give the hens all the water they will drink in the winter time warm it if possible. Furnish grit to grind the feed and if possible oyster shell for making the egg shell and charcoal as an aid to digestion.

Chicken Omelet—Mince rather fine one cupful of cooked chicken, warm in a teaspoon of cream or rich milk a tablespoonful of butter, salt and pepper; thicken with a large tablespoonful of flour. Make a plain omelet, then add this mixture just before turning it over.

Plain Omelet—Put a smooth, clean, iron frying pan on the fire to heat; meanwhile, beat four eggs very light, the whites to a stiff froth and the yolks to a thick batter. Add to the yolks four tablespoonfuls of milk, pepper and salt; and, lastly, stir in the whites lightly. Put a piece of butter nearly half the size of an egg into the heated pan; turn it so that it will moisten the entire bottom, taking care that it does not scorch. Just as it begins to boil, pour in the eggs. Hold the frying-pan handle in your left hand, and as the eggs whiten, carefully, with a spoon, draw up light, from the bottom, letting the raw part run out on the pan, until all is equally cooked; shake with your left hand till the omelet is free from the pan, then turn with a spoon one half of the omelet over the other; let it remain a moment, but continue shaking, lest it adhere; toss to a warm platter held in the right hand, or lift with a flat, broad shovel; the omelet will be firm around the edge, but creamy and light inside.

Ham Omelet—Cut raw ham into dice, fry with butter, and when cooked enough, turn the beaten egg over it and cook as a plain omelet. Bacon may be used instead of raw ham.

Pecan Omelet—Beat the yolks of three eggs, add three tablespoonfuls of cold water, a little salt and pepper, then fold in the stiffly whipped whites of the egg, pour into a hot frying pan, well greased, sprinkle over one-half cupful of pecan meats ground fine, and when cooked, fold and serve at once.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Kitchen equipment should be arranged in logical sequence, according to use. Supplies and utensils, such as bread box, the bread board, and the bread knife should be near the place where they are to be used.

One supful of sugar will sweeten a quart of any frozen mixture and one teaspoonful is the right amount of extract.

One level teaspoonful of salt will season a quart of soup.

Rice will absorb three times its measure of water, and a little more milk.

A teaspoonful of sugar added to the pancake batter will make the cakes a golden brown.

Keep a small box of matches in the machine drawer, and when the light is dim and the needle cannot be threaded easily, light a match and hold it on the opposite side of the needle from where the thread enters, and in a second it is threaded.

When sewing silk becomes unwound, and tightens about the spool spindle of the machine, causing the silk to break, remove the spool, cut a small hole in a little circle of flannel and slip over the spindle, then replace the spool.

When making salad of potatoes, try adding a third as much chopped white cabbage as potato. Potato salad may be made a thing of beauty by using the vinegar from pickled beets in mixing, with a little chopped beet. This makes of it "pink of perfection salad."

Hungary Seeks Executioner

(By the Associated Press)

BUDAPEST—Although ruthless cutting down of expenses has emptied many a government office, and civil servants still in municipal employ cling tightly to their jobs, the Hungarian government has been obliged to advertise in order to fill one vacancy, that of hangman.

"A young, sturdy man with strong nerves," is asked for to replace Michael Ball, who is retiring after 30 years service and means to live in ease with his large family on the small estate he has purchased at Fed, near Budapest, out of his earnings. Ball is suffering from rheumatism in his right hand, and feels it is time to make way for a younger man. He is famous for his gentle treatment and compassion for the condemned, and his last consolation always consisted in a whisper "It does not hurt and will soon be over."

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK ANNOUNCED

Governor and Fire Marshall
Urge Observance of Occasion

Following the issuance of a proclamation declaring the week of October 5 to 11 as Fire Prevention Week by Governor Trapp of Oklahoma, John Connolly, state fire marshal has suggested a program for fire prevention week.

The state fire marshal and the governor urge that full cognizance be taken of the importance of the observance and for further precaution against disastrous fires.

Following are the suggestions: On Sunday preceding the commencing of Fire Prevention Week, the ministers of the various churches might well dwell briefly in their sermons, on the inexcusable folly of waste, and the necessity of limiting fire losses so as to relieve the people to the greatest extent possible, from this embargo on their happiness and prosperity.

On Monday, at a luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies, announcement ought to be made of all the plans for the campaign, and arrangements made for the distribution of posters, bills, stickers and inspection blanks to the end that the widest possible publicity may be obtained.

Tuesday should be designated as clean-up day of homes, factories and stores.

Wednesday should be devoted to the clean-up of all yards, alleys and streets, and arrangements made so that rubbish and trash will be removed by the city authorities.

Thursday, inspection day. An inspection by the owners and tenants of their own premises, in an effort to uncover and remove every fire danger threatening them. Members of the fire department in uniform, will co-operate in this important work.

Friday, fire prevention in the schools. Every school in your community ought to be visited by the chief of the fire department in uniform, accompanied by as many citizens as he can interest. Addresses may be delivered to the children and fire prevention exercises previously arranged by the teachers, can be had, and the children can hand in their inspection reports on inspections made in their own homes by them. Some suitable reward should be made to the school turning in the highest percentage of inspections.

On Saturday, there should be a public meeting, where fire prevention speeches may be made and other exercises of an impressive character, held. At this time it is very important to dwell on the beneficial results that are bound to follow the work of the preceding days.

In order that the community be organized into an efficient fire prevention army, it will be well for all forces to operate through and around the chief of the fire department. He is usually an expert in fire prevention work, and is the natural leader in a movement of this character. He can appoint assistants in each ward in the city, who will confer with him and report to him and to whom he will render every assistance in his power. A special effort should be made to interest the ladies of the community, and teachers should instruct the children under their care, in fire drill work and other fire prevention methods.

The important thing to accomplish is to interest every force for good that you have in the community—your ministers, your civic bodies, your school teachers and your citizens generally. If you can develop a fire consciousness in the minds of your people during this campaign, you will have taken a wonderful step forward, for after all, carelessness is a habit, and it can only be corrected by developing an attitude of mind that is constantly on guard.

Florida Will Celebrate Centennial at Tallahassee

GOV. CARY A. HARDEE SIGNS CENTENNIAL PROCLAMATION

CAPITOL AT TALLAHASSEE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Florida will celebrate its centennial as a territorial entity here Nov. 9-15 with an exposition in which the entire state will participate.

Transportation and agricultural advancement will be shown by demonstrations and exhibits. A reproduction of the original cabin state-house will be erected under the palms and live oaks on the state house lawn. Split log tables, cowhide-bottomed chairs of split timber, a stick-and-aud fireplace—every detail will be worked out to show the thousands of visitors exactly how Florida's first capital looked.

An historical pageant showing the state under five flags—of England, France, Spain, the Confederacy and the United States—will be given on the campus of the Florida State College for Women, one of America's great schools for girls.

Parades, military exhibitions, an athletic tournament which will constitute an "All-Florida Olympic," family reunions, reception of distinguished visitors from all parts of the United States, and many other forms of interesting entertainment will mark the week. Loan exhibits of historical interest have been pledged by individuals and societies all over Florida. Such names as Andrew Jackson, Marquis de Lafayette, Thomas Jefferson, Prince Achille Murat and scores of others are closely woven into the history of the state.

Tallahassee will be host to all Florida and the South during centennial week. Special housing and transportation facilities will be provided. From Miami and Key West, from Palm Beach and Jacksonville, from Tampa and Pensacola, every section of Florida is rallying to this first centennial celebration and "home-coming" of Florida's scattered sons and daughters.

SEATTLE'S POLICE ROW SETTLED BY CITY COUNCIL

(By the Associated Press)
SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 24.—When an ordinance to add 18 men to the local police department was "placed on file" by the City Council the other day, many persons read in that action the close of a chapter that divided the attention of the country with the early stages of the Democratic National Convention in June.

While Mayor Edwin J. Brown was attending the convention, Mrs. Henry Landis, president of the City Council, was acting mayor and she dismissed the chief of police and assumed his office also. She declared the city was full of corruption, and the efficiency committee of the council, of which she is a member, recommended the 18 men to help clean up. But Mayor Brown hurried back and reappointed the former chief. And the council laid away the efficiency committee's recommendations, together with ordinances intended to eliminate the crowing of roosters and the barking of dogs as nocturnal and maternal irritants.

GIANT-RED SOX SERIES HARDEST

Only One Other Instance Has World Series Gone Limit of Games

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—From a spectacular viewpoint, the world's series of 1923 in which the New York Yankees turned back the New York Giants and climbed the championship peak after two previously unsuccessful battles with the McGrawmen, eclipsed any on record but the palm for the hardest-fought title struggle goes to the famous series between the Giants and Boston Red Sox in 1912.

In that memorable fight for premier diamond honors a dozen years ago, the rival clans, led by John McGraw and Jake Stahl, fought through eight games, including an eleven-inning tie, before the Red Sox gained the verdict. Coming from behind after apparently being hopelessly beaten, the Giants captured two games in a row, only to drop the eighth and deciding game in ten bitterly contested innings by a count of 3 to 2, with a fatal error by Fred Snodgrass, Giant outfielder, causing a defeat that was heart-breaking to the National League and their premier mound ace, Christy Mathewson.

Observers of that series recall that so nerve-racking was the struggle, played for the most part in cold weather and under the handicap of frequent hops back and forth between the two scenes of action, that players were scarcely able to control their emotions in the final game. When it was all over rival managers declared their belief that their men could not have stood the strain of further competition.

Only one other occasion has the series gone the limit of games before a decision was reached. That was in 1909 when the Pittsburgh Pirates triumphed over the Detroit Tigers. Each club won on alternate days in this battle until the Pirates made it four out of seven with Babe Adams figuring as the outstanding hero with three of the Pittsburgh triumphs to his credit.

In 1902, series rules called for the best five out of nine games to decide the championship and it took eight contests before the Boston Americans vanquished Pittsburgh. With the same regulation prevailing eight games were required before Cincinnati took the measure of the Chicago White Sox in 1919 and the Giants downed the Yankees in 1921, while Cleveland and Brooklyn met seven times in 1920 before the Indians triumphed. The seven-game rule has been in effect again since 1921.

The quickest series on record was that of 1914 when the Boston Braves, after their sensational pennant drive, overthrew Connie Mack's Athletics in four straight games. The Chicago Cubs, conquering Detroit in 1907, and the Giants downing the Yankees in 1922, also hung up records of four victories and no defeats, but in each of these instances a tie game prevented a clean sweep.

FRESNO, Cal., Sept. 23.—Altho Sequoia National Park has been a public playground for more than 30 years, new discoveries still are made. A forest ranger recently returned from a three-day trip in the Mount Silliman region and reported a lake larger than any hitherto known in the park. The find has been tentatively named Crater Lake.

GIBBONS LOST BOXING SHOES IN COIN TOSS

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON.—When Tom Gibbons returned to the United States after his victory over Bloomfield he was minus his boxing shoes, which became a prized possession of J. S. Gardner. The American boxer in gathering up his belongings packed only one of the shoes, the other being picked up later by Gardner. Gibbons discovered his loss and announced that he would be willing to toss a coin with the finder of the odd shoe to determine who should have both.

Hearing of the announcement, Gardner went to the Waterloo station when Gibbons was leaving and reminded the American of his offer. Telling of the result Gardner said: "Gibbons was very sporting. He at once volunteered to toss and, producing a coin, threw it in the air. I said 'heads' and heads it was. I meant that Tom had to undo his baggage to give me the other shoe, but he made no bones about it. When I told him I would put both trophies up for auction, for some charity he said 'oohoy; see that some poor kiddies get the benefit of what the shoes fetch.'"

FRANCIS

S. H. Pounds, a worker on the coal hoister in the Frisco yards, fell from the top of the oil tank about twenty-five feet to the ground and fractured two of his ribs last Friday morning. Mr. Pounds will be laid up and off of the job for some weeks.

Jack Barnes is now working days and O. N. Hunsucker nights on the hoister and F. B. Hammond fireman in the stationary room.

We have been informed that a man named Anderson and worker on the pipe line was kicked by a mule Saturday evening that caused a fracture of his thigh bone about the middle third. He was taken to Dr. Sharp's office where he received temporary treatment and was carried to the hospital.

An extra fine rain fell here Sunday morning which caused the air to get much cooler and put a good season in the ground. The people now can plant their turnips.

The light rains and corn gathering but it is bright sun shiner now and every body is in the field at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison has returned from their farm in west Oklahoma and are now back in their safe attending to the wants of the hungry people.

Work on the pipe line and station is still going on. The pipe has been laid to Oakman and the ditching machinery is at Francis digging the ditch and covering the pipe.

The pipe line people are now engaged in spreading the cement on the floor of their large tank out at the station. They are erecting cottages, building steel tanks and bedding the machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Luper, the telephone people of Francis, are now in Clovis, New Mexico, visiting relatives.

Only one trunk on the police blotter for last week which speaks well for the citizenship of Francis but hard on the bootlegger and moonshiner.

What is the matter with the business men and property owners of Francis? Why can we not get together and organize a commercial club? Why do we let business and factions interfere with the upbuilding

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TRICKS

Farm Column

I am not an alarmist, as my readers know, in fact some insist that I am too much of an optimist, but I must say that unless there is a drastic change of farming methods in Pontotoc county right soon, this section will cease to be much of an agricultural country. One has only to observe how the land is washing in many places and notice how many fields have already been abandoned to realize the seriousness of the situation. The first step will be to do more terracing. I have come to the conclusion that this land should be terraced when it is first put into cultivation and the terraces kept up, otherwise the soil will soon be washed into the Canadian river and the fields cut to pieces with gullies. Of course something can be done in some cases by running the land in clover or other legume crops for a few years to restore the fertility, but it would be better never to let it run down in the first place. As I see it, this situation is largely due to the tenant system. Before the land is kept up as it should be it must be tilled by its owners.

After hoofing it over the road from the Canadian bridge into Ada, I am in a position to say that both roads, the one running past Colbert and the other via Byng are in good shape just now. Some work is being done on the section north of New Bethel. Several concrete culverts are being put in a mile south of the river the sand hill has been cut down several feet into the clay and a lot of clay dumped on the road towards the river. Only a short section of perhaps half a mile remains to be clayed and when that is done travel will be easy.

In recent years, especially since birds became scarce, it has been a race between insect pests and scientists. As fast as a means of controlling one pest is worked out several more put in an appearance. As if there were not enough already in this country, others have come in from abroad and added to the troubles of farmers and fruit growers. It is estimated that damage of more than two billion dollars annually is caused by insects and if a continual warfare were not waged against them the loss would be even greater.

I am always pleased to see anything in the way of improvement especially in the way of crops and livestock. In this connection E. F. Ratcliffe of Oakman is trying to improve the dairy stock of the county. With a Guernsey bull and two heifers he is making a start and in a few years the offspring from these animals as well as cross breeds from improving the dairy herds. The Guernsey breed, while new here, is one of the most popular in other sections and is famous among milkers the world over.

Smash the Boll Weevil

R. R. Reppert, entomologist, Extension Service, Texas A. and M. College, gives twenty reasons why cotton farmers should enter into an active fall and winter campaign against the boll weevil. Those reasons are as follows:

1. Weevil infestation, in spring, starts from a few weevils that pass the winter.
2. The weevils developing late in the fall are the ones most likely to survive the winter.
3. Many weevils will survive the winter in fields where cotton stalks together with grass, weeds, and other refuse material offering shelter, are allowed to remain.
4. Great numbers successfully pass the winter in Spanish moss, and in dead grass along fences, ditches, and other waste places.
5. The weevil eats only green cotton.
6. The weevil breeds only in green cotton squares and bolls.
7. The weevils can live for several months without food while hibernating and inactive.
8. It does not become inactive until the first killing frosts.
9. Previous to the first killing frosts, it can live for only a short time without food.
10. Killing cotton growth early prevents new weevils breeding and permits only the older ones to enter hibernation.
11. Very few of these older weevils have sufficient vitality to pass the winter successfully.
12. Killing cotton growth early removes the food of the weevil. If the growth of cotton is entirely killed as early as two weeks before frost, many weevils will starve before they can go into winter quarters.
13. Destroy cotton growth early; if possible, by October 1st.
14. Merely chopping or clipping the stalks off will not answer; the stumps will throw out a new growth ideal for weevil food.
15. Kill the plant entirely and prevent new growth by setting a plow shallow and turning out the plants or by some equally effective means.
16. Do not burn crop refuse on the fields. Texas farms need this returned to the soil humus. Merely killing the plants as suggested in No. 15, will in most cases, secure the benefits aimed at.
17. Burn the trash along fences, ditches, and other such waste places, in midwinter, and thus destroy the individuals hibernating there.
18. A farmer cannot prevent weevils coming to his cotton in the spring that another persons has wintered.
19. Big things are accomplished only by co-operation.
20. Organize a whole community for the fight.

Americans Lead Fight Against Appalling Misery As Millions Exchange Homes In Near East

H. C. JAQUITH
Smyrna Hero Who Heads Near East Relief Work Among Deportees

ALLEVIATING the misery of two million people, torn from their homes and forcible moved to distant lands, where customs, languages, and surroundings are strange and confusing to them, is the task confronting American workers of the Near East Relief in the Balkans to-day.

Primarily the situation was brought about by the flight of more than a million Greeks from Turkey following the Smyrna disaster. The Exchange of Populations agreement written into the Lausanne treaty was the other contributing factor. It increased the numbers involved by almost one hundred per cent, about half of them Moslems, from the Greek Islands and Macedonia, the rest being the remaining Greeks in Turkey.

Theoretically the situation is handled by a high commission and eleven sub-commissions, headed by neutrals with Greek and Turkish members.

Actually much of the work has fallen on the Americans, who were specifically requested by the High Commission to begin the transfer before the necessary sub-commissions could function. At that time Greece was overrun with refugees, who were dying in the camps by the hundreds and whose rehabilitation in Greece depended on settling them on property occupied by Moslems.

With the consent of both the Turkish and Greek Governments the transfer was placed under the direction of H. C. Jaquith, who had directed Near East Relief forces during the Smyrna disaster and whose efforts during four years as foreign head of America's most popular philanthropy had demonstrated his impartiality and fitness for the task.

One of the chief problems in connection with the enforced migration has been that of child welfare. With the Moslems going to Turkey this question has not been acute. The high death rate among the Greek refugees, the unsanitary conditions in which they were forced to live on their flight, and the hardships they have endured have wiped out all adults in un-numbered families, leaving the children helpless.

In the refugee camps of Salonica, an important debarkation point for the Greeks, there are eleven thousand orphans with many times that number of half orphans, whose only protectors are widowed mothers and aged grandparents. These youngsters have been the chief concern of Mr. Jaquith and the American child welfare experts on his staff.

An effort has been made to care for as many as possible in the Golden Rule orphanages of the Near East Relief in which there are already 9,000 children. But the resources at his command are so limited that only a small fraction are receiving care. The remainder constitute a tremendous problem for the coming year.

How is the problem to be met? Mr. Jaquith and his associates are frank in declaring that it can not be met with their present budget. They have one hope. This is that the observance of International Golden Rule Sunday on December 7th throughout the civilized world will prove fruitful propaganda for raising the necessary funds.

The first step in the reorganization, effected by executive order, was the creation of the Foreign Service Personnel Board to examine and report on the "character, ability, efficiency and general availability of all secretaries in the diplomatic service, consuls-general, consuls, vice-consuls of career, consular assistants, interpreters and student interpreters." The report was completed by July 1 and the actual interweaving of the consular and diplomatic services has been in progress on that basis.

A primary object of the reorganization, as explained during debates in congress on the bill, was to take the foreign service out of politics so far as possible. The personnel board machinery was designed to relieve the White House of the task of selecting for appointment any foreign service official, except those ambassadors and ministers who are not taken from the career groups in the state department.

There are indications already that the White House has taken immediate advantage of the relief thus afforded. So far as known, selections for appointment to embassies, legations and consulates are being left entirely to the state department. The Personnel Board also regulates retirement under the 65-year age limit, pensions being drawn from a fund built up by retaining 5 percent from the salaries of all state department personnel. One member of the diplomatic corps and 31 from the consular service already have been retired.

The work of the Personnel Board has by no means ended. Records of all officials have to be continually overhauled and kept up to date; individual performances studied to determine in what particular field each individual is most proficient; special qualifications and limitations recorded for future reference. The board has also the power to recommend dismissal of officials whose efficiency rating is low. So far no dismissals have occurred, but some offenders have been demoted and

McGraw Master MIND OF SEASON

Grey-haired Leader of New York Giants Fails Five Times

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—John McGraw, "master mind" of the New York Giants, has led his forces into eight world's series but the strategy that has gained him more pennant laurels than any other diamond has failed to land a majority of title triumphs.

The grey-haired pilot of the Giants has won only three of his series engagements, losing five. Even so, however, he shares the honor of turning in the most victories with Connie Mack, tall tutor of the Athletics who won three out of five battles for world's championship laurels.

McGraw and Mack, who were rival world's tacticians 19 years ago, lead all other managers in series experience. Ranking next to them are three pilots who have figured in three or more title battles—Frank Chance, former "Peelers" leader of the old Chicago Cubs; Miller Huggins, diminutive pilot of the New York Yankees; and Hugh Jennings, Chance's rival for honors who held the reins of the Detroit Tigers.

Chance and Bill Carrigan, former Boston Red Sox leader, are the only managers besides McGraw and Mack with more than a single victory to their credit. Chance won the series title in 1907 and 1908 and Carrigan in 1915 and 1916.

Winning and losing managers and clubs since 1903 follow:

1903 Collins, Boston Americans, winner; Clarke, Pittsburgh Nationals, loser.
1905 McGraw, New York Nationals, winner; Mack, Philadelphia Americans, loser.
1906 Jones, Chicago Americans, winner; Chance, Chicago Nationals, loser.
1907 Chance, Chicago Nationals, winner; Jennings, Detroit Americans, loser.
1908 Chance, Chicago Nationals, winner; Jennings, Detroit Americans, loser.

1909 Clarke, Pittsburgh Nationals, winners; Jennings, Detroit Americans, loser.

1910 Mack, Philadelphia Americans, winner; Chance, Chicago Nationals, loser.

1911 Mack, Philadelphia Americans, winner; McGraw, New York Nationals, loser.

1912 Stahl, Boston Americans, winner; McGraw, New York Nationals, loser.

1913 Mack, Philadelphia Americans, winner; McGraw, New York Nationals, loser.

1914 Stallings, Boston Nationals, winner; Mack, Philadelphia Americans, loser.

1915 Carrigan, Boston Americans, winner; Moran, Philadelphia Nationals, loser.

1916 Carrigan, Boston Americans, winner; Robinson, Brooklyn Nationals, loser.

1917 Rowland, Chicago Americans, winner; McGraw, New York Nationals, loser.

1918 Barrow, Boston Americans, winner; Mitchell, Chicago Nationals, loser.

1919 Moran, Cincinnati Nationals, winner; Gleason, Chicago Americans, loser.

1920 Speaker, Cleveland Americans, winner; Robinson, Brooklyn Nationals, loser.

METHODISTS ON OCTOBER 15 WILL HONOR BISHOP ASBURY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A bronze statue of Bishop Francis Asbury, pioneer Methodist in this country, will be erected here with appropriate ceremonies Oct. 15. Augustus Lukeman, of New York, is the sculptor. Representatives of various Methodist churches over the world have been invited, and a reception will be tendered them on the eve of the unveiling.

The statue, which is to cost some $60,000, has been cast in bronze and will portray the militant bishop seated on a horse, with saddle bags containing books and articles of clothing, as he traveled in the flesh from the coast to the western edge of the wilderness, preaching the gospel.

Francis Asbury came from England to America in 1771, by appointment of John Wesley, to do missionary work.

Youngest Legion Member to Enter West Point Soon

(By the Associated Press)
CUSHING, Okla., July 11.—Oklahoma's youngest member of the American Legion, Frank Hosch, 21, is to enter West Point this fall.

Hosch, who enlisted in the navy at 14 years of age, shortly after the declaration of war on Germany, after the armistice enlisted and served with the American expeditionary forces in Siberia. He returned to the United States, determined to follow the army as a career, but there was no war, and no prospects of an immediate clash. The prosaic life in barracks and on drill field did not appeal to the youth who had seen much active combat service on land and sea, so he temporarily abandoned his militaristic aspirations.

Coming to Cushing at the behest of an army companion, young Hosch went to high school, completing the four year course in two years. He financed his schooling by working nights. In addition to his scholastic work, Hosch took violin lessons. Last spring he obtained his diploma and again came the urge to enter the army. He determined upon an appointment to West Point. With Cushing legionnaires working for him, Hosch was appointed to the military academy.

CORK MAKERS WANT LABELS ON ALL IMPORTED CORKS

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—The provision of the tariff law requiring that all imported commodities bear the name of the country of origin, is presenting knotty problems to the customs service, the latest of which has been brought forward by domestic manufacturers of corks, or plain bottle stoppers.

Certain home manufacturers have filed a complaint that foreign corks are not properly marked, and so for two weeks there have been hearings and legal arguments and much looking up of law and precedent. The claim was made that each and every cork must be labeled, and the treasury doesn't know what to do, for it doesn't see any way in which an individual cork can be identified.

Georgia Lady Says She Has Grown Stronger by Taking Cardui—Thoroughly Convinced of Its Merits.

Clyattville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Copeland said: "I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardui, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me."

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go, and suffered. . . I had a friend who told me of Cardui, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardui has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others. It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill. Sold everywhere. NC-159

STATE FAVORS CHURCH UNION

Only One Woman From State Voted Against Unification Plan

ARDMORE.—Out of the 372 votes in the special session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, held in Chattanooga, Tenn., there were 297 votes for unification and 75 against it. Rev. R. E. L. Morgan, presiding elder of the Ardmore district, said upon his return from the conference. There were 16 delegates from Oklahoma, and Rev. and Mrs. Morgan were from Ardmore as delegates.

Rev. Mr. Morgan said there are some interesting observations in the vote for unification with the northern branch of the church. Forty-five per cent of the membership of the conference is west of the Mississippi river, yet in all that region only five votes were cast against unification. Of the 16 delegates from Oklahoma they were unanimous for the plan of having only one church organization. The votes against unification came mostly from Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

The resolution of unification will now go before all the state conferences in both the north and south branches of the church. This will be done during the year 1925 and if these state conferences pass favorably upon the matter, then the north and south branches of the church will arrange for a joint meeting of their conferences. The church is democratic in form and the final decision of the matter rests with the conferences in all the states of the Union.

Division of the church came in 1844. It arose over the slavery question. The majority of the church seems to feel now that the question has been settled and the two branches of the church should get back into one great organization.

BARNETT GUARDIAN PAYS HIGH FOR SURETY BOND

OKMULGEE.—A $50,000 security bond to protect $8.89, is the unusual predicament of E. S. Bailey, who is guardian of the estate of Jackson Barnett, wealthy Creek Indian now residing in Los Angeles, Calif., according to a petition he filed today in county court.

Bailey asked for $3,500 to pay debts, delinquent taxes and defray expenses of himself and Barnett's attorney on a trip to California to visit his ward, which was granted in an order issued by County Judge W. A. Barnett.

Bailey, who recently succeeded Carl J. O'Hornett, when the latter resigned, stated that $8.89 was all the personal property of Jackson's that was turned over to him by O'Hornett.

Of the $3,500 requested by Bailey, $505 was to pay Herbert G. House of Muskogee, in the making of his security bond while the remainder was to pay delinquent taxes and the expenses of the proposed trip.

The order issued by Barnett is on the funds held in the custody of the Indian department.

It has been rumored in the state press for the last month that efforts are being made by Mrs. Jackson Barnett to purchase a home on the outskirts of Los Angeles. They said that Bailey will endeavor to get them to move back to this county.
